

International MoneyMarketing

Ross Whitehill has left Morgan Stanley, where he was vice president responsible for sales of global custody and securities services. He is joining the management consultancy Thomas Murray as a partner in London. His primary role will be to develop the firm's European business. TM's recent clients include the Prudential and Baring Asset Management.

