

WORLD EQUITY

● Securities industry consultant, Thomas Murray has produced a guide to securities depositories worldwide. The firm has also provided a status report for compliance with the G30 recommendations on custody and clearing. The report finds that 57% of depositories still fail to comply with more than six G30 recommendations.

In Europe, Ireland and Finland have the worst track record for G30 compliance. Both are described by Thomas Murray as Tier Two countries (defined as those which comply with between four and six G30 recommendations). Denmark and Germany comply with all the recommendations. The full report is available from Thomas Murray.
